Thieu Says War Tide Has Turned

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu says the war tide has turned and predicts one U.S. division can be withdrawn by mid-1969 and one or two more in 1970.

Asked in an interview whether he is absolutely confident such a schedule can be kept, Thieu replied:

"Yes, I believe that the present evolution of the military situation will permit us to do so. That is why I have not requested an increase in the U.S. troops in Vietnam, but I request instead sufficient and modern arms and equipment for the Vietnamese armed forces so that the regional forces and popular forces can replace the Vietnamese Army regular units in their territorial missions, and the regular Army would be able thereby to . . . gradually replace U.S. troops . . ."

An American division numbers about 15,000 men. The U.S. troop commitment in Vietnam now is about 550,000.

Asked if he believes the war's tide has turned, Thieu said: "Yes, we have the advantage in the field. We have the initiative, and we continue to inflict severe casualties on the enemy."

The Saigon leader conceded, however, that there has been a buildup of forces from North Vietnam and said he expects a major enemy offensive within the next few months, adding:

"But even if they launch an all-out offensive, they will not be able to maintain it for more than two months."

Thieu said he approves limitations placed on bombing of North Vietnam, as part of the effort to bring a negotiated peace, but would oppose a complete halt in the air strikes against the North.

The Vietnamese president asserted that he has been acting vigorously against corruption.

Enemy Assault Troops Hurled Back from Air Base

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy assault troops battled their way through the defense perimeter of a large U.S. air base early Monday but were hurled back before they could reach and destroy U.S. jet fighter bombers along the runway.

The U.S. Command said the two and a half hour battle started at about 1:30 a.m. when enemy gunners fired about 10 rounds of mortar and rocket shells into Tuy Hoa air base 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

The ground attack by an un-

Fighting Erupts in Yemen; Feuding Since Last March

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — Aden radio reported Sunday fighting has broken out between the South Yemen army and "counter-revolutionary elements" supported by Saudi Arabia.

The fighting was said to be taking place about 35 miles north of Aden, largest town in the South Yemen People's Republic. Aden radio said the British-trained army, security police and the national guard were fighting forces which had blocked roads between Dhala and Lahej, north of Aden.

The extent of the fighting, which began Saturday night, was not reported and there was no mention of casualties on either side but the presence of the national guard alongside the army suggested the fighting was serious.

The army and the leftist guard have been feuding since last March, when the army cracked down on radical elements in the government.

The radio broadcast a Cabinet statement by the government of President Qahtan Al Shaabi, claiming the Sheriff of Beihan, a sultan who fled the country known but apparently large number of enemy troops broke through the base's western defenses. But the thrust did not have enough momentum to carry it to the flight line and the enemy troops pulled back, leaving four of their dead behind.

The U.S. Command said American casualties and damage to aircraft and the base were light. It was not known whether the damage to aircraft was due to shell fire or stray bullets during the ground fighting.

The attack on Tuy Hoa followed three shellings in the Da Nang area last week where one jet was destroyed and another damaged.

Vietnamese troops and police stopped a truck heading for Da Nang on Sunday and found 18 small rockets, two launchers and 18 cases of submachine-gun ammunition together with 250 pounds of explosives and other military equipment.

Vietnamese troops Sunday killed 64 enemy troops and captured 12 others during a fight six miles south of Da Nang at the cost of only one Vietnamese soldier wounded. Earlier it had been reported that 48 enemy troops were killed.

B52 bombers concentrated their attention on destroying a large enemy troop buildup around Tay Ninh City 45 miles northwest of Saigon. In all, seven raids struck near the provincial capital, one only six miles from the city's outskirts.

Part of the large enemy force which had surrounded Saigon earlier in the month has pulled back and now menaces Tay Ninh. Speculation in Saigon centered around the possibility that the move was a feint to draw off allied battalions now surrounding the nation's capital.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republican platform writers, advance guard of the party's national convention, assembled Sunday as two GOP leaders recommended a Vietnam policy plank hinting at stern new measures if peace negotiations fail.

The 100-member committee on resolutions gathered at the sub-tropical convention site to begin hearings Monday on a platform for the 1968 campaign. That panel, led by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, is expected to hear some 180 witnesses and receive about 230 written statements before beginning its closed door drafting sessions on Thursday.

Advice already was plentiful. "I think the platform can contain some constructive proposals in the area of the solution of the war in Vietnam," said Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader.

"We in our platform ought to be more specific than the White House has been recently," Ford said. "I think we ought to say that we should push and press in Paris for a peaceful solution—but at the same time we should let the enemy know that we're not going to let them go on indefinitely."

Ford said Republicans should make clear that they will not leave 540,000 Americans fighting in Vietnam under what he called limitations and restrictions.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, due to appear before the platform committee Wednesday, said the lesson of Korea could be applied to the current situation. Reagan said a hint of renewed and increased U.S. force sped the negotiations which produced a ceasefire in that conflict.

Reagan said he will not try to prescribe specific items for the platform.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller renewed his argument that Richard M. Nixon—now the front runner for nomination—could not defeat the Democrats next Nov. 4, Rockefeller said he can win the White House and he said the delegates want a winner.

Rockefeller appeared on the CBS program Face the Nation, Reagan on the ABC interview show Issues and Answers, and Ford on NBC's Meet the Press.

"Everybody agrees Dick Nixon would unite the Republican Party," Rockefeller said, "and most everybody agrees he'll also unite the Democratic Party."

Reagan wasn't calling anybody a loser. "I believe the Republican candidate can win," he said. "I don't think it's going to be easy."

Nor was the Californian calling himself a candidate—although he has been talking to delegates. "I have made no presidential bid," he said. "I have never solicited support at all."

He acknowledged that his allies have been suggesting that delegates remain uncommitted to keep the convention open to all comers.

"I'm aware of this movement on my behalf," he said. "I have no way of knowing how deep this feeling is, how widespread it is. I imagine it will be determined at the convention."

Rockefeller forecast that up to 50 convention delegates will switch from Nixon to Reagan in the next 10 days in the belief that the Californian would run a better race against third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

Ford, permanent chairman of the convention, said Nixon has

Czech-Soviet Showdown Set In Railroad Car

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leadership traveled Sunday night to their nation's Soviet frontier for an historic showdown meeting Monday—probably in a railroad car—with the Soviet leaders who demand an end to the liberalization process here.

In a last minute message of assurance to the nation, the Prague reformers promised that none of Czechoslovakia's new freedoms would be negotiable.

Reliable sources said the talks would begin at 9 a.m. in a special railroad train that was reported carrying the Soviet Politburo to Czechoslovakia. The site was believed to be a rail junction near the Soviet border in Eastern Slovakia.

About 40 top ranking representatives of the Czechoslovak party, including its 11 Presidium members and party chief Alexander Dubcek, arrived Sunday night in two planes at Kocise, about 25 miles from the Russian border, then left in a plush new sleeper train for the still undisclosed location.

Crowds cheered the reformers and men clenched both fists, signaling good luck and firmness to their leaders.

But the war of nerves continued. Moscow radio said that military maneuvers now under way near the Czechoslovak border are among "the biggest ever carried out by the Soviet army." The exercises will continue until Aug. 10.

In a television interview taped before his departure, the National Assembly chairman, Josef Smrkovsky, a key exponent of the new liberal course, told the nation, "We will bear in mind that we are responsible for socialism in our country, for the sovereignty and for the future of this state."

Speculation about the site of the meeting centered on two railway junctions in eastern Slovakia, Cierna or Presov. Unconfirmed reports from the region spoke of heavy security precautions along the nearby Czechoslovak Soviet border.

Only a short time before, a proposal was made for a five-minute general strike Monday throughout the nation to demonstrate popular support for the liberal leadership, which the Soviet party opposes.

But the leaders spoke out against any such action. President Svoboda, party chief Alexander Dubcek, Parliament chairman Joseph Smrkovsky, Premier Oldrich Cernik and trade union chairman Karel Polacek issued a statement through CTK saying: "We sincerely thank the citizens for the support they are giving to the stand of the Central Committee's Presidium."

"At the same time we point out that the representatives of our party . . . can only be supported by the utmost responsible and prudent attitude of the entire public."

"Therefore we must reject also appeals for organizing demonstrative general strikes."

UN Asked to Help Negotiate Release of Hijacked Plane

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban told a Cabinet meeting Sunday he has asked U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and his deputy Ralph Bunche to help negotiate the release of the hijacked Israeli airliner held in Algeria.

"They were convinced that a continuation of the present situation would endanger peace and security in the Middle East," Eban declared. "No government in the world is under the illusion that Israel could or would acquiesce in the postponement of the release of the plane, passengers and crew."

He made no mention of the 10 Israeli women and children passengers of the hijacked plane who were released Saturday by Algerian authorities. They flew Sunday from Zurich, Switzerland, to Tel Aviv.

Twelve Israelis, male passengers and members of the crew, were still detained in a villa near the Algiers airport.

The Israeli Cabinet was to decide Sunday or Monday on future moves following an expected reply from Algeria to questions posed by Thant.

Advance Guard for GOP Convention Assembles to Work on Platform

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republican platform writers, advance guard of the party's national convention, assembled Sunday as two GOP leaders recommended a Vietnam policy plank hinting at stern new measures if peace negotiations fail.

Ford, permanent chairman of the convention, said Nixon has no lock on the nomination. He said Nixon is ahead—but added that it might take the convention up to six ballots to choose a nominee. If that happens, he said, nobody can guess the outcome.

He said the Rockefeller campaign has slowed Nixon's nomination drive, while Reagan has made progress in picking up delegate strength of his own.

Ford also said there is a movement under way to promote New York Mayor John V. Lindsay as a possible dark horse nominee. "There has been some effort, I understand, made on his behalf, sort of a campaign," Ford said.

Rockefeller and Nixon declined invitations to testify before the platform committee. It will, however, hear one candidate Monday—the ever-running Harold E. Stassen.

Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer will speak for Rockefeller on Tuesday, Nixon spokesmen are expected to appear on Thursday.

The hearings are scheduled in a night club at the ornate Fontainebleau Hotel. The platform is scheduled for convention action on Aug. 6.

The results are markedly similar to the last time the Republicans were polled. In March, Then Nixon had 60 per cent, Rockefeller 25 and Reagan 6.

The survey was the last of its kind before the Republican convention at Miami Beach.

Since 1936, the candidate preferred in the final pre-convention sample has gone on to get the Republican nomination with one exception.

That was in 1964 when William Scranton, then governor of Pennsylvania, was the 2-1 choice over Barry Goldwater in a head-to-head matchup.

Boosters Launch Campaign For 1968 Football Program

The Warren Sports Boosters today launch their campaign to solicit advertising for the 1968 edition of the football program, funds from which are used to defray the costs of the group's projects of assistance to sports programs in Warren schools.

All past and prospective advertisers will receive a letter along with a copy of last year's program. The sports boosters hope that the sample will illustrate the fine quality of the program as an advertising medium as well as an opportunity to contribute to the organization.

During the past year the club carried out a number of special projects in addition to its regular work. They included a contribution of $800 toward the purchase of a new wrestling mat for use in high school matches, purchase of a 16mm camera and projector for the use of all coaching staffs as an instructional aid and establishment of a summer recreational basketball league for all interested boys of high school age.

The summer basketball program was set up with the cooperation of the borough recreation board and the Sports Boosters have provided coaches, team jerseys and trophies.

"All advertising pages contain photos or editorial matter with reader appeal," a Booster spokesman said, "and circulation of the program is approximately 5,000.

Advertisers are asked to return their advertising order forms by Aug. 9 to insure proper preparation of the program and also to eliminate the chore of making follow-up calls.

Individuals are asked to support the project through sponsor and patron listings available at $10 and $5 respectively. The donation also entitles sponsors and patrons to membership in the Sports Boosters.

Sponsor and Patron contributions can be mailed to Warren Sports Boosters, Box 304, Warren, Pa.

County GOP Chairman to Meet With Young Republicans

Warren County Republican Chairman William E. Rice will meet with the Young Republicans at 8 p.m. Tuesday at North-west Savings and Loan Company's hospitality room.

The younger GOP members were asked to canvass their wards and precincts for interested persons between the ages of 18 and 38 to attend the session called in an effort to revitalize the Young Republicans.

Rice said that "After all the future of our party rests largely with the enthusiasm of our youth who can help immeasurably now and who will eventually fall heir to the jobs we are currently doing."

Plans are also being made for the annual GOP picnic early in September and Finance Chairman Bill Clinger is working now on the bi-annual financial drive to aid in a successful November election.

YOUNG RATS that enjoy an "intellectually enriched" environment grow bigger and better brains, a University of California researcher reports. He said "convincing" differences were found between rats reared in isolated, barren cages and those provided "the best, most expensive education available to any young rat at the university."

McCarthy Seeks Support

From Liberals

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy Sunday sought support from leaders of the Liberal party for his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, promising them he would try to deal with "pressing domestic problems," especially housing.

The Minnesota senator also went to Harlem for a meeting with community leaders.

The meeting was interrupted by a bomb scare. Police evacuated the building and made an intensive search, but found no explosive devices. The group planned to move to another location, but McCarthy stopped about half a block from the original site, addressed a street corner crowd, then left the area.

McCarthy told members of the Liberal party's state executive committee that he would like to cut back on military expenditures and said he considered the nation's "man on the moon" program to be unnecessary.

He also said that if elected president he would reevaluate federal highway spending. "Now we have highways that go from one slum to another slum," he said, "from one polluted stream to another polluted stream, from one bad educational system to another bad educational system."

The Liberals also have invited Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, McCarthy's opponent, to air his views before the state executive committee. However, no date has been set for such a session and party vice chairman Timothy W. Costello said it may be difficult to arrange.

The Liberal party has an enrollment of about 82,000 members in New York State, but polls a vote of between 300,000 and 500,000 in state elections.

Paul O'Dwyer To Arrive In Jamestown

He and his party are on a five day tour of Western New York and will proceed to Buffalo after their stop in Jamestown. Other stops on their schedule include Salamanca, Olean, Wellsville, Dunkirk, Hornell and Corning.

Not A Vice President But A Presidential Successor

NEW YORK — If there is one strong caveat about presidential conventions of recent years, it is that delegates must not pick a vice president but a presidential successor.

Even before the 25th amendment became part of the Constitution last year, thereby insuring the vice presidential succession and the continuity of his office, too, convention delegates were really nominating two presidential candidates.

The No. 2 man is no longer a musical-comedy Throille developed. On the job as it has been developed since World War II, the vice president has gained new power without necessarily the glory in important areas of the federal government. And the chief executive has become so much greater in this volatile and more complex country and world that it would be irresponsible for delegates and the presidential nominee to vote the usual standard of a vote-getting sectional alliance or merely the force of a charismatic personality.

The sniper in Dallas five years ago made this generation acutely aware of the perils of the president and the burdens of the vice president. But other incidents and events in the 20th century have proved that an ordinary man or an inexperienced man will no longer do.

A year after the turn of the century, a shot rang out and vice president Theodore Roosevelt succeeded President McKinley, of whom he had once said, "he has a chocolate éclair for a backbone." The so-called "Cowboy in the White House" proved more than equal to the job because he had the credentials—a sort of combination of John V. Lindsay (Roosevelt had served as police commissioner of New York City) and Nelson A. Rockefeller (he had also been governor of New York State), plus tennis racket and horse.

New York continued as "mother of vice presidents" when James S. Sherman became President Taft's vice president. In contrast to Roosevelt, "Sunny Jim" was considered a wheelhorse Republican, affable and undistinguished.

He died in office and, under the present rules of succession, the president would have had the right to nominate his replacement. Then, the nation was for several months without a vice president.

So, too, the 25th amendment would have applied when the next president, Woodrow Wilson, suffered a paralytic stroke. In the great coup that followed, the president's wife and personal physician played executive roles in the White House. Under the present law on disability, his vice president, Thomas R. Marshall, could have replaced him as acting president and gone down in history for a little more than his remark "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar."

Surely Calvin Coolidge, who became president when Warren G. Harding died in office, was unlike Vice President Harry S. Truman, President Roosevelt's successor, incapable of growing in office. He presided over an ominously prosperous nation that was hellbent for the depression; his major contribution as president to the public weal came when he declared, "I do not choose to run" in 1928.

President Roosevelt also played the sectional balancing act with his three vice presidents—John N. Garner, Henry A. Wallace, and Truman. The first and third were certainly unimpressive at the time of their nomination.

The chief executive's cardiograph became an issue in 1952, before President Eisenhower suffered his heart attack in office. Blasting Richard M. Nixon, Adlai Stevenson said, "The Republican vice presidential candidate asks you to place him a heartbeat from the presidency." When former vice president Nixon ran against John F. Kennedy in 1960, a similar crack was made against vice presidential candidate Lyndon B. Johnson, a coronary victim, with a campaign flyer saying, "Only a heartbeat from the presidency."

Presidents Eisenhower and Johnson performed their functions despite serious health ailments in and before taking office; Stevenson and Kennedy are also dead. Sadly, the nation, with a Congress that refuses still to pass a real firearms law, has the gunshot by madmen in the 1960's the least dangerous than the heartbeat of nature.

In 1969, delegates to both national conventions cannot ignore the chancy record of this century. They cannot regard their choice as eligible for on-the-job training. Nor can they pick the kind of unequipped nonentity who has often been named in the past. For they may be choosing the president after the next president.

Dirksen Runs into Trouble Over Viet in GOP Platform

(C) N. Y. Times News Service
MIAMI BEACH—Senate Republican leader Everett McKinley Dirksen encountered possible dissension in conservative Republican ranks Sunday over his intention not to make the Vietnam war a partisan issue in the Republican platform.

Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa served notice, as he arrived here with the vanguard of Republicans who will attend the party's 29th convention that he was intent on incorporating in the platform partisan criticism of the Johnson administration's "deception" and "miscalculation" in the Vietnam war, he indicated in an interview that he would resist any Dirksen plank that would not take partisan issue with administration policy in Vietnam.

Miller, representative of the conservative Republican backbenchers in the Senate, is a member of the G.O.P. resolutions committee, which Monday will begin four days of public hearings on the planks that should go into the Republican platform for the coming presidential campaign. The hearings are a prologue to the convention, which opens Aug. 5.

As chairman of the resolutions committee, Dirksen has made clear that he favors a broadly worded Vietnam plank that could be endorsed by both hawks and doves in his party, to mollify the hawks, his proposed plank would criticize the Johnson administration's diplomatic and military handling of the war but not to the extent of turning the Vietnam war into an open partisan issue.

To keep the doves in line, the proposed Dirksen plank would also call for a "honorable" peace in Vietnam as soon as possible, without specifying what should be the terms of such a peace.

Miller, who along with other Republican conservatives has often been annoyed at Dirksen's general endorsement of the administration's Vietnam policy, expressed displeasure over reports that the Senate Republican leader was not desirous of making the Vietnam war a partisan issue.

"The deceptions of the Johnson administration in 1964 certainly should be an issue," Miller said. "The people were deceived in 1964 and they should be reminded of that fact."

Dirksen arrived here Sunday aboard a National Airlines plane with a guard, armed with a shotgun, sitting on the jump seat behind the cockpit to protect the plane against hijacking by Cuban exiles. He arrived minus his portable typewriter on which he had threatened to draft the platform in advance of the hearings. But perhaps reflecting a belief that drafting the platform should not be too troublesome or time-consuming, he did bring along a collapsible fishing pole.

Briefly Speaking

MEXICO CITY (AP) — With demand for silver rising, Mexico is thinking about reopening its old mines. Manuel Franco Lopez, secretary of natural resources, said consideration would be given to working deposits that were not profitable at the old, lower prices for silver.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Benetton in at dances has been forbidden by the sheriff of Soledade, in the Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil's southernmost state. Sheriff Mario Cavalheiro—his name means gentleman in Portuguese—justified his action by saying: "No-good elements have been borrowing girls."

LONDON (AP) — The state-financed British Broadcasting Corp. plans to end Hebrew language broadcasts to Israel this year as an economy measure. It said money used to support the half-hour daily broadcasts would be allotted to other cultural contracts with Israel.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Development Program has authorized its 700th pre-investment project since 1959. The new project involves $746,400 in UNDP funds and $1,129,000 from the government of Uganda to build up small-scale industry in the African nation over a five-year period.

Nixon Seeks Advice On Ideal Running Mate

(C) N. Y. Times News Service
MIAMI BEACH—Richard M. Nixon's search for an ideal running mate has turned methodical, involving three parallel tests of public and political opinion.

The Nixon organization is conducting a private poll in seven key states to determine which of seven potential vice presidential candidates would be most popular with the voters. Some returns have already arrived at the candidate's convention command post in the Hilton Plaza Hotel here.

Nixon has also sent a letter to more than 100 Republican leaders across the country, loosely advisers, asking their specific advice as to filling the second spot on the Republican ticket.

In addition, Nixon aides have commissioned a series of public opinion surveys on national issues, which are expected to provide important guidance for the former vice president when he makes his selection. These polling projects are part of a broad plan to demonstrate confidence on the part of the Nixon political team that Nixon is assured of the presidential nomination at the National Convention here next week.

As part of the same propaganda endeavor, the Nixon camp has already provided an outline of the candidate's travel schedule after the convention and has invited radio, television and the newspapers to designate reporters to cover the Republican campaign in the fall. The full list of vice presidential possibilities being tested in polling with the public is not known, but Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois and Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, are believed to be two of the names.

The survey is being made in the seven states that Nixon regards as critically important to his campaign: New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Texas and California.

In his personal effort to obtain the reactions of Republican leaders on the vice presidency, Nixon asks recipients of his letter to answer three questions:

1. Who would make the best running mate for Nixon, in terms of providing geographical and philosophical balance?
2. Who would be the best campaigner, both in personal appearances and meeting the increasing demands of television?
3. Who would be best qualified to become president in the event of Nixon's incapacity?

The question as to campaigning ability is a critical one with Nixon. The former vice president is still sensitive

2 NBC-TV Cameramen Say They Were Beaten by Police

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
CLEVELAND — Two National Broadcasting Company network television cameramen said they were badly beaten by Cleveland police early Sunday while filming an arrest on the city's largely Negro East Side, Julius Boros and Charles Ray, both on assignment from Chicago, had been in Cleveland since the outbreak of disturbances last Tuesday. Both men were taken to Lutheran Hospital where Boros was found to have possible broken ribs, multiple cuts and bruises and a broken tooth. Ray was treated and released.

Boros was charged later with assault and battery. The Hungarian-born photographer, working out of N.B.A. station WKYC-TV in Cleveland, responded to a police radio run to 105th st. and Euclid ave. at 2:45 a.m. He said police objected to his filming the arrest of two Negroes and set upon him, smashing his camera and striking him with nightsticks.

He said that as he fell he reached for a policeman's shoulder to support himself. His hand fell instead on the policeman's drawn gun, Boros said in an interview taped by N.B.C. staff members. He said the gun fell and he immediately handed it back to the officer, not pointing it at him.

A group of police then set upon him, Boros said, beating him and kicking him after he fell. He said he lost consciousness and awoke in the police station where water was thrown in his face and the beating continued despite his pleas. He said that while being fingerprinted, police threw lit matches in his face and struck him in the side with a rifle.

The police report of the incident said that patrolman Donald Kupiecki saw Boros taking pictures of the arrest of a young man and ordered him to move because he was standing in the street and was a traffic hazard. Police said Boros grabbed patrolman Kupiecki's gun from its holster and they wrestled for it, the policeman managing to get it back.

A call for help brought other police to the scene, according to the report, and as Boros was being placed in a scout car the police report said he kicked and also kicked patrolman Joseph Katonka.

Ensign said the incapacitating chemical Mace was used in making a number of the arrests. "Little use of it was necessary," he added.

Students Add Junk Art To Mod Exhibition

COVENTRY, England, (AP) — College students took part briefly in an exhibition of modern British sculpture here by smuggling in a load of junk amid works by Henry Moore and other masters.

Students at Coventry's College of Technology took one look at the ironware being assembled in what was billed as the most representative exhibition of modern British sculpture in the war-shattered ruins of Coventry Cathedral and decided they could do better.

They collected pieces of scrap metal and old car engines from rubbish dumps and assembled them in a wigwam-shaped structure amid the Henry Moores and Barbara Hepworths.

The students got away with it until an interested American visitor asked why the wigwam-shaped heap was not in the catalogue. After a quick check, stewards hauled the junk away.

What of other legitimate exhibits in the show? "Just like bits of metal from an aircraft wreckage," said one critic.

"No," a friend disagreed, "more like something that fell off a machine."

In general, reactions to the exhibition ranged from "rubbish," "disgusting," to "most pleasing," and "refreshing."

The exhibit, which refused to show a piece of sculpture by Beattie John Lennon and his Japanese friend Yoko Ono, is probably the most controversial artistic display ever staged here.

The display of works in bronze castings, rolled steel, fluorescent plastic and other materials by some 30 leading British sculptors has already become as controversial as the new Coventry Cathedral, designed by Basil Spence, adjoining the open ruins.

Critics of the new cathedral's modern architecture call it "a monstrosity" or "a jam factory."

The works include a Henry Moore "reclining figure"—a metal torso that dominates the display.

"Four Square Walk Through" by Barbara Hepworth seems to have five squares.

But the visitor can walk through the 20-foot high structure of bronze shapes and admire it from many angles. It is valued at $24,000.

Industrial Employment Shows Overall Upswing

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — Industrial employment in Warren County has had its ups and downs during the past 45 years—with the overall span showing an upswing.

Records of the State Department of Internal Affairs show that from 1919 to 1966 industrial employees in the county climbed from 4484 in 1919 to 6606 in 1966.

For purposes of identification and simplification, industrial employees were broken down into three major groupings — (1) manufacturing, (2) mines and quarries, and (3) railroad repair shops.

By 1951 a total of 5820 countians were in the industrial work force complex—5770 in manufacturing, 17 in mines and quarries and 33 in railroad repair shops. By 1958 the county's industrial employment total was 5150 (5123 in manufacturing, 16 in mines and quarries and 11 in the railroad repair shops), while by 1966 the already noted total for the county of 6606 included 6499 in manufacturing and 107 in mines and quarrying. (Department lists no 1966 figures for railroad repair shop employees.)

In 1919 the 4484 industrial employees in Warren County included 4264 in manufacturing, no figures listed for mining and quarrying employees and 220 employees in railroad repair shops. By 1930 the number of industrial employees in the county dropped to 4290, of which number 4228 were in manufacturing, 18 in mines and quarries and 44 in railroad repair shops.

Ten years later in 1940 the county picture in the industrial worker front stood at 4041, with 3994 at this time in manufacturing, 18 in mining and quarrying and 29 in railroad shops.

County's Second Class Townships Authorized to Operate Ambulances

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — Warren County's 22 second class townships now are authorized to operate ambulances and rescue and life saving services for township residents, under legislation signed into law by the Governor.

Previously second class townships in the state were authorized to appropriate funds toward a nonprofit community ambulance service.

This has now been so that second class townships are permitted to acquire, operate and maintain motor vehicles "for the purpose of conveying sick and injured persons of such townships and the vicinity to and from hospitals."

For these purposes the townships are authorized to expend township funds directly or appropriate money annually toward rescue and life saving services, as well as the previously authorized nonprofit community ambulance service.

MOSQUITO BATTLED
NEW DELHI (AP)—Five departments of the government, including the defense ministry, have combined to fight the tiny mosquito in and around Delhi. "The nuisance has been growing in the capital," the health department conceded.

Scranton, regarded until a few days ago as the leading vice presidential candidate on a Nixon ticket, apparently hurt his cause considerably by his endorsement of Rockefeller but did not do it fatal damage. Despite repeated statements of unavailability, former Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania is still being seriously regarded by some Nixon advisers.

Scranton, on the basis of his 1964 pursuit of the Republican nomination, is readily identifiable as presidential caliber and remains influential in one of the key Nixon states.

Daytime Calm Returns to Gary

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Daytime calm returned to Gary Sunday after an outbreak of arson and looting which injured six persons and resulted in 47 arrests.

Police Chief James Hilton called the violence "a disorder probably spawned by outside agitators."

State, Lake County and local police ringed a 20-block area around the predominantly Negro Midtown district and arrested the calm after an estimated 500 Negro youths smashed windows and looted stores. National Guard troops were summoned to stand by in their armories but were not called into the streets.

Mayor Richard J. Hatcher, a Negro, conferred through the night with law enforcement officials and Negro leaders. Then he made an inspection tour of the troubled area and went on radio ask the cooperation of Gary citizens in returning the city to normal.

Hilton said his intelligence unit was working under the theory the disorder was caused by "outside agitators." Members of the Chicago Police Department were reported in Gary to see if any of those arrested had participated in violence which flared Thursday night northwest of Chicago's Loop.

The disturbance began after midnight. Fires were set in three stores and police reported gunshot fire from rooftops. Three persons were shot—one a fireman wounded while putting out one of the blazes. Two Negroes told hospital officials they were shot as they walked through the troubled south Broadway Street.

Hatcher, a Democrat, won the Gary mayoralty last November without the support of local party leaders. He heads a city with more than 55 per cent Negro population among it 96,000 total.

Foolishness Not Tolerated

We haven't had any burning or looting in Warren--and it's very unlikely we will have in the near future.

Not that most of us aren't just as burned up about some of the things going on as anyone in Cleveland or Detroit. We are. And there's no question at all that heaving a brick through a plate glass window wouldn't let us work off some of our hostility.

But there's a darn good reason why our hostility must be held in check, turned inward to eventually bring us to the brink of emotional instability.

The reason--Mike Evan, our chief of police, and his 19-man crew of law-supporting stalwarts. Mike is the kind of person who tolerates no foolishness when it comes to breaking the law and he has trained his charges to a high degree of proficiency in applying his precepts

Nation of Amiable Grumblers

SAN FRANCISCO--You can not cross the continent these days without hearing a lot of amiable grumbling about every one of the Presidential candidates, and some of it not so amiable either.

What explains this general pessimism? It can't really be that Humphrey, McCarthy, Nixon and Rockefeller are the voter's poor choice. I mean, Johnson versus Gold, so why all the unhappiness?

The explanation seems to be that the problems somehow seem larger and more intractable this year and therefore much bigger than the candidates.

The war and the cities were discussed in the last Presidential election campaign and the voters were deceived about both, but a lot of Americans while discharging their routine duties.

We of the Warren area know and respect Mike's tough and determined stand to maintain law and order in the community at all times. It gives us confidence that whatever may happen in the world outside, our homes and families are secure.

So it's little wonder, as we watch the march of current events on TV, listening to Huntley or Cronkite describe the horrors being committed in our major cities, that we are inclined to wonder why there aren't more Mike Evans in the world.

Sooner or later, we are convinced, the cities and the nation will come to realize that nothing but toughness and determination will stop the rioting and carnage that presently plagues us. Law and order must prevail--at any cost.

An Oriental Fact

Vietnam is a confusing subject because it consists of Facts Occidental, Facts Oriental and Anti-Facts. It is an Oriental Fact that South Vietnam was being overwhelmed by North Vietnam when the U.S. intervened. It is an Oriental Fact that the fight is really a private civil war between Vietnamese. It is an Anti-Fact that, because everyone prays for peace, that all sides are seeking it.

With this kind of a start, you are well on your way to becoming an expert. Think of it this way: If Great Britain, in 1861, had sent a half million soldiers to Jefferson Davis, the South might have won the Civil War. The North was stronger and richer. This is also true in Vietnam.

At that point, comparisons die. It is an Oriental Fact that North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh loses all the big battles, but not the war. It is an Oriental Fact that the United States and her allies have won decisive battles but have lost world opinion. It is an Anti-Fact that all South Vietnamese desire a democratic government.

A Chinese in Saigon put it to me bluntly: "I have a restaurant. Which ever side lets me keep my business, I hope he wins." Or rather, what if the communists will promise everybody a bowl of rice, they'll go Communist.

Occidental Fact: At the American PK, I interviewed soldiers at random. The vote was 21 to 1 by GPs for the U.S. to remain in Vietnam "and win this one."

The odd one said: "They're going to send me home soon or I'm going to hop a ship." Anti-Fact: Goods shipped to American soldiers are delivered to them. I saw GPs buying boots and shaving gear in the Saigon black market.

It's wide open, conducted on the sidewalk. Why aren't the thieves arrested? The clerk says that the police department owns the black market. Who will arrest whom?

It is an Oriental Fact that, if America pulls out of Vietnam defeated, we are finished as a great world power. If we don't -- as I wrote three years ago -- we will be tried to death economically. It is an Occidental Fact that the U.S. went to Paris seeking peace. It is an Oriental Fact that the North Vietnamese went to Paris to talk peace.

It is an historical fact that North Vietnam that played because (1) they caused the U.S. to stop bombing the north as a primary condition for talking; (2) they have used the Paris talks solely for propaganda.

The bombing of the North--restricted as it was--hurt Ho Chi Minh severely. One evening I stood on the apron at Tan Son Nhut AFB with a colonel and a captain who were taking off to photograph bomb damage in the north. They fly a Phantom, which speeds through the pitch black at 1,400 miles per hour, and photographs bombs, truck convoys and road craters with infra-red film.

The colonel was a polite man with gray temples. "If Washington would permit us to bomb the North around the clock," he said quietly, "we could take out Hanoi, Haiphong, industry, bridges and airfields and leave Ho Chi Minh with nothing more than his chickens. But Washington is afraid that this will bring China into the war." He shook his head. "I'm no war-monger, but aren't we going to have to fight the Chinese anyway -- when they're ready?"

That's no fact. It's a supposition. Fifty years ago, World War I was started in France. If an American had then suggested that we pull out and come home, he would have been tried for treason.

Occidental Fact: We dined on the roof of the Hotel Caravelle and American planes dropped saffron chandeliers lighting up the city in an effort to find small teams of Viet Cong equipped with mortars. Oriental Fact: Our gold-toothed waiter said: "Peaceful in Saigon all the time." Well, yes and no.

Oriental Fact: The South Vietnamese had 679,000 soldiers in their army; the U.S. had 500,000. More South Vietnamese have died in this war than U.S. soldiers. Occidental Fact: South Vietnamese make lousy soldiers. Anti-Fact: Saigon wants peace. If peace comes, the money dries up, the bars dry up, the pretty girls go home to manufacture the water buffalo, the government grinds to a halt.

If I were President Johnson, I would give the North Vietnamese in Paris one week in which to start talking peace and then start unrestricted bombing of the North. Oriental Fact: Confucius said "Asian with gun at head talk happy talk quick". . . .

Discuss Ways and Means

WASHINGTON--The two top Negro mayors of the United States, Carl Stokes of Cleveland and Walter Washington of Washington, D.C., were debating the problems of the big city with two top white mayors, Kevin White of Boston and Joseph Alioto of San Francisco.

Mayor White, who defeated the Boston supporters of Louise Day Hicks, has been working 18 hours a day to patch up relations between Irish and Italian Bostonians and the Negro population, has kept city hall open 24 hours a day, and initiated trailer offices to take city hall to the people.

Mayor Stokes has been out in the streets of the Hough area, improving schools, housing, and community relations. He told his fellow mayors how the federal government had doubled its educational contributions; how improved techniques would soon make it possible to build a $10,000 house in 48 hours.

When asked about welfare funds for illegitimate black babies, Mayor Stokes said: "It's been proven there is less fraud in the welfare system than there is in business. For every black person who is poor there are three white people who are poor."

Mayor Washington kidded Mayor Stokes about coming to Washington to visit Resurrection City. "Up until recently," he said, "I was mayor of two cities -- Washington, D.C. and Resurrection City, USA. The mayor of Cleveland came to visit us and I discovered he was making them comfortable here." The emphasis was on the word "here."

Mayor Alioto of San Francisco recalled: "It was not too long ago that a San Francisco candidate for mayor ran on the platform of 'the Chinese must go.' Today the Chinese are an important, integral part of our community. In the Theodore Roosevelt administration he sent an inquiry to San Francisco as to why Japanese children were not admitted to Caucasian schools.

"Today one-half the membership of the highest paid labor force on the west coast, the International Longshoremen-making between $18,000 and $20,000 -- is Negro," said Mayor Alioto. "The plumbers of San Francisco have just signed a pact that 25 per cent of their apprentices shall be Negro or Spanish," the white mayor of San Francisco told the Negro mayor of Cleveland. "So have the electricians."

The interchange took place at the panel discussion of the International Platform Association presided over by John Gardner, former Secretary of HEW, who has just written a new book, "No Easy Victories."

When Mayor Stokes got back to Cleveland that night a small group of black nationalists were

Beating the Draft

An emerging problem of vital importance to employers and employees the nation over will reach new heights early in August, the drafting for military service of 21-26 year old employees.

The government's list of "Critical Occupations and Essential Activities" has been suspended by the current draft law.

About the only qualifiers for automatic draft deferment under this law are doctors and clergymen. Most young scientists, engineers and technical people already have been or soon will be reclassified 1-A; many local draft boards will not be able to meet their quotas unless they start drafting large numbers of these young men.

What this means to you, an employer, is that you may be facing a dangerous reduction of your staff of key young executives, unless you take immediate steps to forestall this. What this means to you, the draft eligible employee, is that you suddenly may find yourself off the job and into uniform, unless you also take proper steps to protect yourself.

Because so few employers and draft eligible employees know as much as they should about the intricacies of the draft, Prentice-Hall has put together "The most effective procedure for keeping needed employees deferred."

The guidelines could be of extraordinary value, so here is what Prentice-Hall says to you. The employer, should do:

(1) Immediately check on your employees' present draft classifications, learn precisely what such Selective Service classification means. (Do you know that a man is not exempt from military service until the age of 36?)

Pearson

trying to undo his work. Firing from ambush, they killed three police.

"If my carbine hadn't jammed I'd have killed you," another police officer quoted black nationalist Fred "Ahmed" Evans as saying, according to UPI. "I had you in my sight when my rifle jammed. You police have bothered us too long."

In Washington that same night, a black united front meeting, called as open to the public in the African Methodist Episcopal Church, threw out all whites and newsmen. Three moderate Negro leaders walked out in protest.

The meeting was to consider neighborhood jurisdiction over Washington police; a system whereby Negro neighborhoods would select and boss their own police instead of having a central police staff for the entire city.

Washington has one of the best police forces in the nation, picked by civil service from all over the country. Recently its Negro mayor, Walter Washington, hired, as No. 2 executive, Patrick Murphy, an officer skilled in race relations. Murphy has tried to enlist more Negro policemen.

Black protests had resulted from the shooting of a Negro burglar by white police as he fled the scene of a burglary. Two weeks earlier, a white policeman was shot and killed by a Negro family when he tried to arrest one of its members.

Afterwards, leaders of the black united front issued an amazing statement justifying the killing of a "white honky cop." Rev. Channing Phillips, leader of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy's forces in Washington, signed the statement.

These are some of the reasons why there's been such dramatic support for George Wallace of Alabama in the North. What the Negro militants don't realize is that there are potentially more white militants than Negroes, and that they are setting back the remarkable progress of the Negro race by playing into the hands of the Wallaceites and the Ku Klux Klan.

After World War I, the Klan had a phenomenal revival in Maryland, New Jersey, Indiana and Southern Ohio, even Kansas. There is latent Klan sentiment in the North today. This is what George Wallace is tapping in the huge crowds that come to see him.

It's a latent form of American fascism. Coupled with black nationalism which inspires it, it's the most dangerous political trend in the United States. If it gets started it will wreak vengeance on the great majority of law-abiding Negroes and in turn on the great majority of law-abiding whites.

That's what the black snipers who shoot Cleveland police, and the black preachers of Washington who condone the shooting of white cops don't seem to realize.

Take Your Pick

HARRISBURG -- Was it an exercise in futility--or public window dressing--when legislative Republicans moved to increase miner's asthma benefits from $75 to $100 per month in the House of Representatives?

The evidence is that it was one or the other--and you can take your pick. A look at what has happened (by the record itself) is interesting.

On Monday, July 15, the House voted 174-11 to make the $25 per month increase in occupational benefits, most of which go in the form of life-long pensions to victims of miner's asthma. Since the move was made by administration Republicans, it seemed obvious that someone up in the front office of His Excellency had approved the move. Now it turns out that such was not the case.

Last week the Governor's Budget Secretary, Arthur F. Sampson, ended all hopes for the increase. He said:

"I am flatly opposed to the legislation. We have no money in the budget for such an increase and no prospects of getting it."

Since Mr. Sampson speaks directly for Governor Shafer on financial matters, the House action certainly was futile.

Earlier, House Democrats, led by Representative John Wansel, of Forge, had attempted a parliamentary maneuver to require a vote on a bill that would have increased the same pensions from $75 to $125 per month.

The move was defeated on a straight party line vote--all Democrats for and all Republicans against.

This caused statements to be issued by many House Republicans, all of them curiously worded alike. Representatives Charles Luger, called the Democratic move "political fakery." If what is right for the goose is right for the gander, should the Republicans now have to reply to the same charge? After all, they either knew or did not take the trouble to find out that the Governor, who holds the purse strings, would veto their move.

Furthermore, they had accused House Democratic Floor Leader Herbert Fineman of deep, dark deeds.

Messrs. Luger and O'Connell (both) said:

"Because of the irresponsible actions of the big city leadership of the Democratic Party, the hard working people of the Coal Regions were led down a garden path of political promises that they never intended to keep."

As they well knew, Representative Fineman had made no such promises, either in public or private. But if anyone is guilty of leading the "hard working people of the Coal Regions" down the garden path, it certainly has to be those who belonged to the majority party and made them believe that their pensions would be raised--when they certainly knew that they wouldn't.

Curiously, the administration seems to be keeping itself in a pit deeper than any that produced Anthracite or Bituminous. As an upshot of the Democratic move and the political pressure brought back home against the Legislature, the pensioned miners might still get their increase.

Republican legislators are clearly in a jam and the only way they can get out of it now is if the increase is passed before the election.

Both Democrats and Republicans seem to be in agreement in the Legislature that the miner's asthma benefits can be increased without appropriating more money. Last year, $22.5 million of the money appropriated for occupational disease benefits was left unspent. Democrats say this means the appropriation should either have been cut this year or used for increased benefits.

When Republicans moved their own increase bill as an amendment--which curiously enough made a Democrat, Representative Harry A. Englehart, Jr.,--they said the increase to $100 would cost only $6 million. They insisted the money was available in the present budget. Mr. Englehart has announced that he will not drop his fight to see that the increase is passed.

"I have written letters to all members of the Senate asking that they support the bill," the Cambria County Democrat said. "I am still hopeful that the increase will go through in September. But if it doesn't, we elect a new Legislature in November and we can take another crack at making the increase when the new session begins to do its work."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

An open letter to the people of Warren.

One of the most thrilling moments of the recent State Veterans of Foreign Wars Convention in Philadelphia was when the big Dragon Band swung into the Sheraton's Grand Ballroom to help celebrate my election to the post of State VFW Commander.

It was doubly thrilling to reflect on the tremendous effort by hundreds of my fellow citizens who paid the way for the band's trip to the convention.

Adding to the excitement was the first place award won by this talented organization in the parade Friday evening. We are pleased that you, the citizens of Warren, are fit to help send these fine young people to Philadelphia. Had you been there, you would have been proud of them.

On behalf of the 150,000 men of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars, I wish to thank all the people of the Warren area for their help.

Special praise is due to Band Director Dan Harpster and his "Chief of Staff" Basil Trowbridge; to Dr. David Rice, Chairman of the County Commissioners and Barry Epstein of the Chamber of Commerce.

Sincerely,

-Eugene R. Manfrey

Department Commander

Sheffield VFD Sponsors Gala, Fun-Filled Day... Many Activities

MOST ORIGINAL

The Sheffield Lions Club won the prize for having the most original float in the Sheffield Volunteer Firemen's parade Saturday. The float carries a huge head wearing glasses a symbol of the club's sight saving program which includes securing glasses for people who have faulty vision. The Lions float was one of four which won prizes.

Saturday was a day of fun in Sheffield full of color and marching feet and music as the fire department held its annual parade and tournament of drums.

It also was a day of satisfaction for the organizations who competed successfully in the events.

Fire equipment prizes went to Clarion for the best pumper and to West Ridge Hose of Erie for the best tanker.

The best drum and bugle corps in the parade was the Marion, Ohio, Cadets, first; Riley's Bugle Corps, Hamilton Ont., second; and St. John's Girls, Brantford, Ont., third.

The Eisenhower Lancers won first place among drill teams, and St. Mary's CYO Girls of Lockport, N.Y., took second place.

In the Tournament of Drums, the Marion Cadets successfully defended their championship title, receiving 70.75 points. They were followed by the CDA Corps of Butler, 63.35; K of C St. John's Girls, Brantford, Ont., 61.78; Caballeros of Cleveland, Ohio, 60.25 and the Scarborough Firefighters, Scarborough, Ont., 55.666.

Trophies went to the CDA of Butler for the best color guard in the field show and to St. John's Girls for the best drum major.

ALONG THE LINE OF MARCH

Almost all of Sheffield it seems turned out to watch the firemen's parade Saturday afternoon. Here the camera catches the Sheffield Veterans of Foreign Wars and Sheffield Fire Department color guards as they move along the line of march. Saturday was a gala day in Sheffield featuring not only the parade but a drum and bugle corps contest and a dance.

WINNING FLOATS

Meadowbrook Dairy won the prize for the best industrial float (left). The presence of Miss Warren County Jane Roshong no doubt aided the judges in their decision. The Warren Jaycee float (above) was judged the prettiest. The prize for the best comic float went to Jim's Plumbing of Sheffield.

YOUNG LADIES ON PARADE

Batons twirling, skirts swirling, the Sheffield Twirlettes Junior Corps (above) marches down Main st. in Sheffield. Girls also make up the color guard of the Sundowners Drum and Bugle Corps (left). The Sundowners carry the flag of Canada as well as the American flag. Good crowds turned out in near perfect weather to watch the colorful parade.

PRECISION TWIRLING

The Red Raiders, a girls' twirling team from Rouseville, draws the attention of spectators at the Sheffield parade. The Red Raiders won first place among majorette teams in the parade. Other prizes went to the All American Majorettes of Oil City and the Greenwood Robinettes of Butler. The color and pageantry of the twirlers, drill teams and bugle corps were highlights of the big parade sponsored by Sheffield firemen.

ANGEL

Young Angel Marlink stands at attention before the start of the Sheffield parade. She is a member of the Clarendon Candy Canes a twirlers corps comprised of small girls.

HERE'S AN IDEA FOR A BLOCK PARTY for these stifling summer nights when the walls just seem to be closing in on you, and the heat makes even breathing an effort—How about a lawn concert, a sort of musical potpourri, with each of your neighbors bringing his favorite record. Then sit around in the soft coolness of the outdoor zephyrs, such as they are, with something cool to drink, some stars to look at, and some really good conversation for a change with neighbors maybe you've only said "good morning" or "good evening" to before.—Of course, you understand, this has to be a block party.—Can you imagine the raucous bedlam that would rend the night air if everyone in the neighborhood settled in his own backyard to play his own selections, and his next door neighbor was doing the same, and his next door neighbor? Yes, such an evening for full enjoyment, almost has to be a block party.

SOMETHING I READ THAT I LIKED: "Every citizen in this nation has the right to be heard—but not to prevent others from being heard. For 'no freedom of speech for reactionaries,' 'no freedom of speech for warmongers,' 'no freedom of speech for peacekeepers' soon becomes 'no freedom of speech for anyone.'"

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a high school boy (senior) who needs your advice. I am depressed most of the time and don't want to talk to anybody. When I'm in the dumps I feel worthless and stupid and I hate myself. Then I go the other way and think I am the greatest.

I know I need to socialize more but when I get the afraid I make some dumb excuse and back out because I'm afraid I won't act right and people will dislike me even more.

I feel alone when I'm with my family. My father has always been cold. My mother is so busy trying to keep peace in the family she has no time for anything else. Dad fights with everybody.

I've told Mom I think I need psychiatric help but she says I am going through a stage and I'll grow out of it. I've even thought of suicide. Please tell me what to do. AFRAID OF LIFE

DEAR AFRAID: My advice is for both you and your parents because you need to recognize the nature of your problem and your parents need to recognize the importance of getting you to a doctor for a psychiatric evaluation.

Unfortunately some parents are reluctant to recognize symptoms in their children that could be signs of emotional illness. The parents fear it will label them as failures. In any event, fixing the "blame" serves no useful purpose. What is needed now is professional help. Your personality swings (from high to low and low to high) need exploration.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are five teen-age girls who are writing to servicemen in Vietnam.

One girl (I will call her Jill) has been getting gifts from the boy she is writing to -- not little trinkets, Ann, the last gift was a wristwatch that must have set him back a lot of money. Jill is practically engaged to a 19-year-old boy she's been dating for two years. When we criticized her, she said, "I am making the G.I. happy and I'm entitled to whatever he wants to give me."

Maybe I feel so strongly because I have a brother in Vietnam and I'd hate to have a girl double deal him like this. What is your opinion?—OUTSPOKEN IN CHIPPEWA FALLS

DEAR OUTSPOKEN: It is unlikely that the G.I. would be sending Jill expensive gifts if he knew she was "practically engaged." It's either proper (he's honest) to accept presents under the circumstances and I hope Jill will return the watch and urge the G.I. to save his money.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Four years ago I did a foolish thing. I let a man move into my apartment without benefit of clergy. He had lost his job and was broke. I felt sorry for him. I also was flattered by his attention because he was nine years younger than I and very good looking. We lived together for almost two years.

When he got a good job, he also got a new sweetheart -- someone his own age -- and married her. My question is this: Am I legally free of this rat? A woman at work said something about common law marriages. (I am listed on his company insurance policy as his wife.)

I'm too shy to talk to a lawyer and I need your help.—SOUTHERN NITWIT

DEAR SOUTHERN: Beats me how a woman can play house with a man for two years and be too shy to talk to a lawyer. Sorry, but if you want legal advice, you'll have to go to someone who can give it. I can't.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits -- the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex -- Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Ron Benson, Jamestown)

Nuptial Vows Pledged In Our Lady Of Loretto Church

Our Lady of Loretto Church in Falconer, N.Y., was the setting on Saturday, July 27, for the wedding of Sarene R. Bova to Raymond Walter Swanson. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Theresa Bova of 130 West Main street, Falconer, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Walter Swanson of 208 Lexington avenue, Warren.

The Rev. Father Louis Della Neve, pastor of the church, read the double ring rites during the 11 a.m. Nuptial Mass in the presence of two hundred wedding guests. Organ music was provided by Mrs. Harry Vincent. Two vases of white gladioli and pampas ornaments adorned the sanctuary of the church and arrangements of white gladioli and pampas adorned the candlelit altar. Four satin bows marked the family pews.

Presented in marriage by her brother, Charles Bova, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin styled on empire lines with lace bodice, a scalloped rounded neckline and bell shaped sleeves. A detachable chapel train was edged in the lace. Her veil of silk fell from a sunburst shell of glowing crystals and pearls. She carried a prayer book topped with a European hand bouquet of white roses and miniature carnations. A bouquet of carnations was placed at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The matron of honor, Mrs. James Eldridge, sister of the groom, of Warren; the maid of honor, Miss Janet Mason of Falconer, N.Y., a cousin of the bride; and the bridesmaids, Miss Linda Lyon of Clymer, N.Y., and Mrs. Fred Larson, all were gowned in maize chiffon and carried pendant bouquets of yellow gladioli. Their headpieces were maize chiffon bows made by Mrs. Eldridge who also made the bride's gown. The junior bridesmaids, Miss Rose Marie Bova, sister of the bride, was also in maize chiffon.

For a honeymoon at Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride traveled in a costume of white cotton with lace. After August 1, they will reside at 515 Water street, Warren.

Mr. Swanson is a 1964 graduate of Warren Area High School, and a 1968 graduate of Edinboro State College with a B.S. in Education. This fall he will teach in the Sheffield Junior-Senior High School. Mrs. Swanson, a Falconer Central School graduate, 1967, previously employed at the Bank of Jamestown, will be employed at Warren National Bank.

The best man was Wayne Reed of Warren, uncle of the groom. Following the wedding service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The three tier wedding cake was topped with a pearl heart with ivory and a set of wedding rings. The table was decorated in white, blue and pink.

For traveling to Ocean City, Md., and Washington, D.C., the bride wore a white dress with matching blue and white coat. She had white accessories and a corsage of blue and white carnations. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Doverspike stayed at 17 1/2 Center street, until today, when they are leaving to make their home in San Diego, California, where the groom is serving in the U.S. Navy.

Best man was Alan Reynolds of Warren, and ushers were James Eldridge, brother-in-law of the groom; Fred Conti, a cousin of the bride from Dunkirk, N.Y.; and Daniel Swanson, brother of the groom, of Warren. The junior usher was Steven Piezza, a cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Bova for her daughter's wedding chose a pink lace and satin sheath with white hat and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Swanson wore a light blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Jennie Piazza had a corsage of white carnations, and Mrs. Elsa Swanson, grandmother of the groom, also had white carnations.

Two hundred and fifty guests were in attendance at the reception held at the Gerald Gaeta Club. Light blue and white was the color scheme. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dippenze of Falconer, N.Y., grandparents of the bride. Aides were Mr. and Mrs. John Piszcz of Buffalo, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Conti of Dunkirk, Mr. and Mrs. James Piazza of Falconer.

A Bridal Halo Of Flowers

A fashion so very old that it is very new beautifies today's brides and lends unexpected drama to the wedding scene—luxuriant halo headresses of fragrant fresh flowers.

So, take heed, lovely brides! When you walk down the aisle—be it this summer or next December—a crown of real flowers will focus full attention precisely where it should be—on your own radiant face.

One prominent fashion authority from San Francisco writes: "It's almost pathetic that so many brides select a beautiful wedding dress and then ruin its effect with a mediocre little tulle veil attached to an undistinguished little headpiece. 'Veil and crown have become almost a uniform, and it's too bad, because neither does very much to flatter either the bride or her dress. The fingertip-length veil breaks the silhouette of her dress at an awkward point, and the little crown of pillbox does nothing to frame her face."

"Fortunately," the writer continues, "there are other solutions to the problem of what to wear on that special day. One of the most imaginative is fresh flowers, which can be arranged in a variety of ways."

A story-book description of various fresh flower head-dresses arrangements follows: One bride twisted her long hair into a braid and laced it with freesia, stephanotis, lilies of the valley, daisies, and narcissus. Her bouquet included the same flowers.

A short-haired bride, or the bride who arranges her long hair in a classically upswung and unobtrusive twist, looks stunning in a halo of camellias or gardenias with background stephanotis blooms. Flowers and leaves are arranged in a crescent that frames her face. If the bride wishes to wear a veil, it can fall from the headpiece, but it should not detract from the effect of the flowers. Organicle streamers might also be a substitute for the usual veil.

The Society of American Florists lists carnations, cymidium and phalaenopsis orchids, gardenias, daisies, roses, camellias, and asters as flowers that lend themselves beautifully to fresh flower bridal crowns. Nimble-fingered florists construct the fabulous crowns with florists' wire and green tape, filling in with dainty touches of fresh greenery.

DEAR HELOISE:

This cute idea was given to me by a young newlywed.

When hanging crisscross curtains, pull up the top ruffle of the curtain next to the window so that it stands up at the TOP of the window and looks just like a top double-ruffle!

It adds so much to the window

Mrs. J. Bukemose

Now that's what I call real hunky-dory, and you're an absolute angel pie for passing it on.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I put a coat or two of asphalt roofing paint on the inside bottom and lower sides of my garbage and trash cans and let it dry thoroughly to prevent rusting.

Frank Gullette

DEAR HELOISE:

I haunt rummage sales and many times pick up a dress (for a dollar or so) with lots of lovely buttons—sometimes expensive ones for much less than I would pay in the store. Not to mention the zipper and the material.

If it has a full, gathered skirt, I can usually make two pillow cases, or perhaps a table cloth for my breakfast table, or a nice apron or two. Sure saves on my budget!

If the dress is embroidered or fancy with a full skirt, I can make lovely kitchen or bathroom curtains.

Flora Young

LETTER OF LOVE

DEAR HELOISE: No matter how tough things get or how tired I am, when I see my older son bend down and hug and kiss the little one, and Daddy comes home and hugs and kisses us all, everything is worthwhile after all.

Mrs. F. L. Apperson

DEAR HELOISE:

Recently I baked a ham and wanted to glaze it with something.

Constance Yvonne Schearer Bride Of Terence L. Honhart

A double ring, candlelight nuptial service in Calvary Baptist Church united in marriage recently Constance Yvonne Schearer and Terence L. Honhart. The pastor of the church, the Rev. A. Wallace Olson, officiated and traditional wedding music was provided at the organ by Mrs. Robert Donham, with Lee Olsen, the vocalist. The altar was enhanced with two vases of white gladioli and yellow mums. Three white tapers in holders were placed at the front of the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Joseph L. Schearer of 96 Pleasant drive, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Honhart of 408 Mohawk avenue.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride approached the altar in a white silk organza gown with Chantilly lace appliques; the lace sleeves were elbow length and the bodice had a portrait neckline, and a Watteau train fell in graceful folds at the back of the gown. A crown of pearl mock orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of six white roses and eighteen miniature white carnations with ivy and tied with white satin ribbon. Her jewelry was a sterling silver cross with miniature wedding bands, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. Dennis N. Honhart, a cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor in a gown of blue tulle and white lace. A crown of blue flowers with a nosegay of blue and white carnations complemented her gown. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Betsy Coates of Erie, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Jerry Samuelson of Erie, another cousin. Mistress Loie Heymann of Livingston, N.J., 2nd cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

The best man was Dennis N. Honhart, cousin of the groom, and ushers were Roland D. Shearer, brother of the bride, and Jerry Samuelson of Erie, cousin of the bride. The acolyte was Joel Schearer, brother of bride.

The mother of the bride selected a green silk jersey dress with matching lace jacket and white accessories. The mother of the groom was in turquoise with white accessories. Both had yellow carnation corsages. Grandmothers Mrs. Lena Woodruff had a pink carnation corsage, and Mrs. Teresa Schearer, a yellow carnation corsage.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church, with approximately one hundred and fifty attending. Decorations were carried out in blue and white; the cake of four tiers was decorated with miniature doves and blue roses and topped with miniature bride couple. Aides were Mrs. Howard Stewart, Miss Marlene Ryszak, Miss Susan Schnell, Mrs. Fred Meissman, Miss Marjorie Cole.

For traveling on a wedding trip to Alexandria Bay, Thousand Islands, N.Y., the bride wore a yellow and white ensemble with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Honhart are now residing at 35 1/2 Pleasant drive.

Both are 1964 graduates of Warren Area High School, Mrs. Honhart also graduating as a nurse from Hamot Hospital in 1968, is now employed at Warren State Hospital. Mr. Honhart is a 1968 graduate of Allegheny College, where he majored in Biology. He will teach Science in the Warren County School District this September.

RAINWATER FOR SHAMPOOS

Q. I have heard that rainwater is best for shampooing the hair. Should this be followed by a lemon rinse?

A. Tap water contains chemicals which react with soap to form a "scum" which, when deposited on the hair, has a dulling effect. A weak acid such as vinegar or lemon juice provides a chemical effect, allowing the scum to be rinsed from the hair. Rainwater contains no chemicals to react with soap, hence no "scum" to be deposited on the hair. Detergent shampoo requires neither rainwater nor acid rinse because tap water chemicals do not react with such shampoos.

IODIZED SALT

Q. Our local food market no longer stocks iodized salt. Is such salt still medically approved?

A. Except in special cases, iodized salt should always be used. A deficiency of iodine causes goiter. While seafood is rich in iodine, people who live inland may not obtain sufficient iodine from this source. Speak to the manager of your local market and insist that he stock iodized salt.

Clark, Schweiker Both Claim Victory After TV Debates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Democratic U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark accused his Republican opponent of telling untruths. And the GOP challenger, Congressman Richard S. Schweiker, charged the incumbent he wants to unseat with ducking questions and doing a "flip flop."

At the end of their bitter 30-minute debate Saturday night, that was televised and broadcast across Pennsylvania from the Pittsburgh studios of WTAE, each candidate claimed victory. "There wasn't much doubt that I won," said Clark. "But, of course, I'm prejudiced. He (Schweiker) didn't discuss the substance of foreign policy. He was nit picking on what I've done on some relatively unimportant things."

Schweiker, just as positively, said "I feel very good about it. Any time I can get on statewide television and show the flip-flops of Joe Clark and how he treats GIs as second class citizens that's a big victory."

It was their second face-to-face confrontation on TV radio this month. Two more debates are to be held before the Nov. 5 election.

The debate dealt mainly with foreign and military affairs. The first concerned domestic issues.

Clark, 64, a former mayor of Philadelphia who is seeking his third six-year term, at one point said Schweiker's claim that Clark voted to send aid to Egypt was "a complete untruth — and if this wasn't a polite debate I'd describe it by a shorter word."

Schweiker, 42, of Montgomery County, nearly eight years in the U.S. House, insisted that Clark "did exactly what I said" and the Democrat interrupted again to say:

"You didn't tell the truth before and you're not telling the truth now. I'll back my record — and I mustn't get mad, must I — on supporting Israel against yours any day in the week."

Schweiker also drew caustic comments from Clark when he said senator had promised to support establishment of a veterans committee in the Senate. "I have never favored a vet-

Pope Expected to Say 'No' to The Pill

VATICAN CITY (AP) — On the eve of his expected pronouncement on birth control, reports spread in Vatican circles Sunday that Pope Paul VI would forbid general use of the pill by Catholic women but leave the door open for future changes. Through a curtain of strict official secrecy, hints filtering from birth control experts in Vatican circles indicated this:

The Pope Monday will issue a general "no" to chemical and mechanical means of contraception for most of the world's half billion Roman Catholics but allow for exceptions in special cases and encourage further medical research. If these reports are true, it would mean that though the traditional church ban on contraception would be reaffirmed the issue would still not be finally settled.

Indeed, with the Pontiff's views not yet officially disclosed, theologians of many nations in Rome were predicting that, far from settling the issue, the Pope's stand will touch off an explosion of new controversy and questioning.

It was not even official that the document to be issued at a Vatican news conference Monday would be the long awaited statement on birth control. The Vatican announcement Saturday said only it would be a pontifical document.

But the exceptionally stiff secrecy maintained by Vatican officials on the nature of the document, plus rumors of past weeks that the document would soon be issued, left little doubt in Vatican circles that this would be it.

Italian newspapers reported it was now taken for granted that the Pope would give the world his decision Monday on what is clearly the most difficult problem of his reign.

Word from various parts of the world over the weekend that bishops beyond the Vatican would be making important announcements Monday indicated the Pope's document was already in the hands of the various national and regional hierarchies, ready to be issued to the faithful after the document is released here.

The only birth control method allowed by church rules is total abstinence or the rhythm method of periodic abstinence during the wife's fertile period.

However, the hints filtering out of the Vatican pointed to the Pope allowing the use of some pills to make the rhythm method more certain for women who suffer irregularity.

Dr. Charles Mayo Killed in Accident

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Dr. Charles W. Mayo, 70, the last Mayo family member to work at the medical clinic his father and uncle founded, was killed in a car accident south of Rochester Sunday.

Dr. Mayo was the son of Dr. Charles C. Mayo, cofounder of the Mayo Clinic with his brother, Dr. William H. Mayo in 1864.

Dr. Charles W. Mayo, known to friends as "Chuck," retired from the clinic in September 1963 after a distinguished 31-year career in which he carved a name as surgeon, statesman, author and United Nations alternate delegate.

Death came to Dr. Mayo on his usual Sunday drive in the country surrounding his Mayo-Wood home on Rochester's outskirts. His car rolled off an embankment and Olmsted County Coroner Dr. T.O. Wellner said he was dead at the accident scene.

German Atomic Research Pioneer Otto Hahn Dies

GOETTINGEN, Germany (AP) — German atomic research pioneer Otto Hahn, winner of the Nobel Chemistry Prize in 1944, died here Sunday after a long illness. He was 89.

On Dec. 18, 1938, Hahn and his assistant, Fritz Strassmann, proved atomic fission could be achieved by bombarding uranium with neutrons. Publication of their experiment the following month revolutionized atomic science.

More than six years later, Hahn was awarded the Nobel Prize in chemistry for his experiment. A British prisoner of war at the time, he learned of the award from a newspaper clipping but was unable to accept it until after his release in 1946.

Seven years after Hahn had split the first atom, the atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima. When Hahn heard the news, he reported later, he thought of killing himself.

Scott Wins Mid-Season Race At Stateline Speedway

By DAN PRATZ
BUSTI, N.Y. — A slight drizzle early in the evening failed to dampen the spirits of the racing fans or drivers here Saturday night as the program continued at Stateline Speedway finding Jim Scott victorious in the 50-lap Mid-Season Championship Feature and Ron Blackmer returning to the Sportsman class with his "new" 4. Jr. to take top honors in that division. Dick Gilbert captured his first feature win in the Hooligan class as he drove his way up through some 35 autos for the victory.

The evening was also plagued by many smash-ups and several restarts. The tenth lap of the New Car feature was utter disaster for Bob Schnars, point leader in the circuit, and Ron Blackmer.

Schnars was running right in front of Blackmer and was pouring it on when John Ditch lost a tire two cars ahead. Schnars' Javelin was unable to avoid hitting the tire. Upon impact, estimated between 80 and 90 miles per hour, the 1968 Javelin was hurled into the air coming down almost atop Blackmer's car. The two autos spun broadside and came to rest sitting in the guard rails in front of the grandstands. The drivers were shaken, however, neither were injured and the race was restarted without Blackmer and Schnars.

Rich Miller received a big setback in the restart as he had been running in first place for the first 10 laps by about half a lap. However, the restart put Jim Scott's powerful Toronado right on his tail. The pressure Scott placed upon Miller was too much as he went crashing into the wall on the third turn after battling with the Toronado for two laps.

From then on it was Scott all the way as he remained in first place easily. Floyd Fanelle paced Scott for several laps, however, a traffic jam near the middle of the race put Fanelle way back in the pack and out of the running. Fanelle finished second while everyone's favorite, Squirt Johns, placed third with Fred Knapp finishing fourth and Paul Hellman fifth.

The Sportsman class was once more hot and heavy as the areas best drivers fought it out right from the start. Lyle Brown, who last week captured victories in both track features, ran hot on Blackmer's tail from the fifth lap on. Jim Sloan and Dick Gilbert also gave Blackmer a tough time as they remained close behind never letting him take too big of a lead.

However, Blackmer had just a little more skill than the other drivers and managed to stay in the lead despite the pressure. Sloan finished second in the race with Brown third and Skip Furlow fourth.

Dick Gilbert didn't have too much trouble in capturing his Hooligan win. The racing pilot moved into first place on the sixth lap and stayed there 'till the very end with the second place car running almost a half a lap behind. John Weidmeyer finished second while Jim Jewell placed third.

Early heat and semi-action was just as exciting as the feature races as the drivers fought hard for the prize money. Dave Turner, Floyd Fanelle and Ed Baldwin won in the New Car heats. The Late Model semi winners were Bob Bigley and Scott.

Charlie Steinley, Ken Geheres, and Jim Sloan triumphed in the Sportsman heats. Victories in the Hooligan heats went to Les Luce, Ray House, and Skip Vincent.

Next week's program at Stateline will feature a regular show, however, Sunday night at Eriez the drivers will be up for the biggest race and biggest purse of the season as they compete in the 150-lap Grand Championship race.

Dark Mirage Wins Delaware Oaks Easily

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Trainer Everett King says he can't account for the transformation of Dark Mirage from a good 2-year-old to an unbeatable 3-year-old.

"She was a skinny little thing with a bad temper to begin with," said King after Dark Mirage romped Saturday in the $57,950 Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park.

"You handle horses like children," said the trainer, looking for a reason for Dark Mirage's emergence as a leading candidate for 3-year-old filly of the year.

"You encourage them (horses and children) to do the right thing and try to correct their faults. I can't single out what I've done for Dark Mirage, except to say we turned her from a wildcat 2-year-old to a settled filly of 3."

"She still is a strong-minded horse, very quick. You have to watch her all the time. She spilled Ycaza (jockey Manny Ycaza) one day when he relaxed on her."

Dark Mirage won the Delaware Oaks as she pleased over a four horse field that also included Sale Day, Singing Rain and Inge. Because only four horses representing three interests were entered, Delaware Park management received permission from the Delaware State Racing Commission to make the Oaks a betless exhibition.

Ycaza had her under a drive and she scored by two lengths over Sale Day, who had eight lengths on Singing Rain. Inge was a straggling fourth. The time was 1:50 2/5 over a fast track.

This was Dark Mirage's ninth straight victory and eighth consecutive stakes triumph since finishing fourth at Aqueduct last March. She has won the nine by a total of more than 50 lengths, making it tough for tracks to get a field to go against her.

A $6,000 yearling purchase by Lloyd I. Miller of Cincinnati, Dark Mirage earned $37,667 in the Oaks, boosting her bankroll to $342,338. She is the only filly ever to win New York's triple crown for fillies—the Acorn, Mother Goose and Coaching Club American Oaks.

Prof Subs Slide Rule For Crystal Ball

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania high school football season has not yet begun, but the standings are already in. A professor of mathematics at Pennsylvania State University has released his statistical assessment of how scholastic football in the state will shape up during the 1968 campaign.

Prof. Roger Saylor's ratings include only teams in Central and Northeastern Pennsylvania, curiously omitting the Western and Philadelphia area circuits. The survey is concentrated in District 3 of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association.

According to Saylor, Harrisburg's John Harris School is the fiercest in the state, having the best rating over a 5-year period. Harris High carries the Central Penn Conference in District 3, which receives second place in the conference ratings.

Saylor identifies the mightiest conference as the so-called "Big Six", comprising schools in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Easton, and the Allentown-Bethlehem area.

How does Saylor come up with his prognosis? The sliderule quarterback compiles each team's record over a five-year period, and then figures its relative winability on the basis of the size of its enrollment and the stature of its competition.

Three 10-rounders are listed for New Orleans Monday with heavyweights Jimmy Christopher of New York meeting Joe Burns of New Orleans in the feature. Ernie "Indian Red" Lopez of Pasadena, Calif., faces Art Adams of Los Angeles in a 10-round welter scrap at Las Vegas, Nev., Wednesday. Irish Frankie Crawford, Los Angeles, is pitted against Pete Gonzales, Portland, Ore., in a featherweight 10-rounder at Los Angeles Thursday.

VORSE RUNS INTO DITCH AND LaMANCUSO

All season, our photographer has been trying to take a picture of a spinout. In this Stateline Speedway shot he has finally attained his goal. Chuck Vorse, piloting Car 37, spun out in front of Sammy LaMancuso, center, and Johnny Ditch, driving U2.

All three drivers escaped unscathed. Autos were bumped and dented. Vorse, Erie, is driving a 1968 Camaro. LaMancuso, 27L, is in a 1968 Dodge. Ditch, Ripley, is driving a 1967 Chevelle. (Photo by Gordon Mahan)

Action Highlights Wattsburg Racing

Racing fans were treated to one of the most action-filled nights of regional running at Wattsburg Speedway Friday night. Ken Green did a triple remover in the first semi-final for Early Models and three other cars bounced off Green like a rubber ball. The East straightaway fence proved to hold out as Bob Austin smashed into the outside retaining section during the same race.

A disappointment to Max Blair's fans came as he roared into the third turn with a lap lead in the second semi-final and he screeched to a grinding stop when his front left wheel assembly sheared to a bare axle. Dan Keightlinger, hot on Blair's exhaust, ripped sharp to the pole position and held it to the finish.

When the ladies entered the track in the powder puff derby, it was Kath Currie, driving No. 716 that gave the cheering crowd plenty of thrills as she took the lead from the first lap—never to lose it till Chuck Weary, flagman, gave her the checkered flag.

Lambert Killed In Dutch Race

ZANDVOORT, Netherlands (AP) — Christ Lambert of Great Britain was killed here Sunday when his car ran off the track during a heat of the Grand Prix Formula 2 auto race.

Jean Pierre Beltoise of France won the race in a Matra Cosworth Ford, averaging 105 miles per hour and finishing in one hour, 13 minutes and 52.18 seconds.

Henri Pescarolo of France was second, also in a Matra, while Richard Attwood of Britain was third, Silvio Moser of Switzerland fourth and Eric Offenstadt of France fifth, all in Tecno Cosworth Fords.

Attwood turned in the fastest lap, averaging 108 m.p.h.

African Nations Fight Olympic Committee

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — African countries are being urged to step up their campaign to abolish the present International Olympic Committee and replace it with a body representing all the countries with national Olympic associations.

The move follows African resentment at the IOC's original decision, since reversed, to invite South Africa to the Olympics.

Delegates from Kenya, Sudan, Ethiopia, the United Arab Republic and Uganda are meeting here to fix dates for the elimination contests of the next all-African games, scheduled for Bamako in October, 1969.

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

On Thursday, last week, Norm Perschke, Associate County Agent, and a large group of 4-H Dairy Club leaders held the annual "get the kids' calves ready for the fair day". It's a day-long session of showing young boys and girls how to clip ears and tails to make the calves look smart. Considerable time and much effort is spent on trimming hooves. This job is done so that the animals can walk with all the grace and ease of "Here she comes - Miss America!" in front of the judge. For some 4-H'ers this is an entirely new experience and requires a great deal of effort, especially if a fellow is only ten years old and his calf outweighs him by ten times. For others, who have been showing calves for eight or nine years, it's just "old hat" and they don't get too excited about the event. But even for the older members the final showdown day at the County Fair on August 15th is eagerly awaited.

The Fair is scheduled for the week of the 13th through the 17th of August this year. There's plenty of activity scheduled for the entire week. Monday, the 12th and Tuesday, the 13th, are two special pre-fair days for 4-H youngsters called the "Coun-

Students Uncovering Ancient Tidioute

The Upper Allegheny valley around Tidioute is Indian hunting ground and farm land. The first humans who roamed the high hills and river flats wandered into the valley when the great ice sheets of the last glaciation had not yet disappeared from the North American continent. These people were not numerous and their camps are widely scattered through much of the upper Allegheny valley. These big game hunters were followed by people with an Archaic form of life based on hunting and gathering. Archaic evidence is plentiful on almost every suitable camp spot in the valley and the river flat near Tidioute must have been a favorable location to judge from the javelin points, scrapers, drills and beveled adzes that have turned up on site 36-Wa-80 adjacent to Myers Run on the Bruce Ziegler farm.

With the advent of farming around 500 B. C. or slightly earlier, the Indians began to settle down in small villages to tend their plots of corn and squash. These Early Woodland Indians likewise are represented by their characteristic points and stone tools. But the deep refuse pits with layers of broken pottery, chert chips and cracked rocks belong to a much later time when the ancestors of the Iroquois, known to archaeologists as the Owaseco culture, maintained a village on the spot that had seen too many previous campers.

How do we know? The story begins really in 1966 when Jimmie Nicholson, a high school student at Tidioute, worked as a volunteer with an excavation team from Clarion's Archaeological Laboratory. That same fall, Jimmie discovered evidence of Indian occupation on the Ziegler farm and reported his finds to Dr. G. A. Konitzky, Director of the Archaeological Field Program at Clarion State College. Preliminary excavations in 1967 proved that this was an important site that could tell much about the little known prehistory of the Allegheny valley. This summer, 31 participants of a Secondary Science Training Program in Field Archaeology, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, have joined forces with the students from Clarion's fifth annual Archaeological Field School to probe into the long forgotten past of the ancient Indian settlement near Tidioute.

After intensive preparation in classroom and laboratory, the NSF program participants are old hands at clearing overburden, sifting dirt, cutting soil, or clearing out an Indian garbage pit. With more than 50 students working on the site, three additional archaeologists assist Dr. Konitzky in this operation: William Engelbrecht from the University of Michigan, Peter Jenkins, Institute of Archaeology, University of London, and Robin Derricourt, Cambridge University. For both British archaeologists, this is their first "American dig". Guido Riccadonna of Penfield and Miss Joanne Osman of Corry serve as field assistants on the site and take care of the multitude of tasks that make an excavation a success.

Who are these students who try to unravel the secrets of ancient Tidioute? They come from the four corners of the United States and for many of them this is their first exposure to a fascinating field of scientific investigation. Due to their work, more will be learned about the Indians of this part of Pennsylvania when the "dig" at the Ziegler site has been completed in August.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(To 1946 by The Chicago Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you have dealt yourself:

AKQJ ♠ 642 ♦ 753 ♣ AK4

What is your opening bid?

A.—This hand possesses the textbook requirements for a one suit opening bid. The club suit should be avoided when all of your values are concentrated in two suits. A one-spade opening may present bid problems. The best approach is to bid one club with the intention of showing spades next.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

AKQ64 ♠ AQ1052 ♦ K73 ♣ J

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♥ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♥ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. While it is tempting to double for penalties, partner may think you are contesting for the part score and bid three clubs for which you are not prepared.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKJ1054 ♠ 3 ♦ A1096 ♣ 54

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♣ 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣

2 ♣ 2 ♠ 3 ♣ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. Although partner was not strong enough to make a take-out double, the bidding marks him as a club player. The hands show enough to offer a reasonable play for game.

Q. 4—Neither side vulnerable, you partner opens with one spade, and you hold:

AKQJ2 ♠ AJ5 ♣ 843 ♣ 52

What is your response?

A.—Two spades. We are normally reluctant to make a mild response with a hand containing so many high cards, but no other satisfactory call is available. In support of spades this hand is worth 10 points, which brings it within the limits of a single raise. The distribution is against you.

Q. 5—North-South vulnerable, and as South you hold:

AK5 ♠ K1094 ♦ AJ9874 ♣ 3

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

3 ♣ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid?

A.—Three diamonds. It may seem that this hand rates more aggressive action, but a take-out double would be attended with grave danger, for if partner responded with three spades you might find yourself in an untenable position. True enough, you may miss a heart game, but then you must charge it up to the fortunes of war.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKQJ753 ♠ 5 ♦ J3 ♣ 1062

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♥ 1 ♣

2 ♥ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. You can win seven tricks and should rely upon the opener to produce three.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

AKQJ95 ♠ 82 ♦ KQJ9 ♣ 73

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣ 2 ♥

5 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—While you have considerably more than you might have had for your one-over-one response, nevertheless, you should pass, for you haven't exactly what partner needs. He is evidently faced with the loss of two heart tricks. With a singleton heart you should accept the invitation, for he holds solid clubs, spades, and the ace of diamonds, but two little hearts.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:

AK42 ♠ AQ94 ♦ K1085 ♣ Q9

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Dbie. Rdbie. 1 NT ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. You have East hanging on the ropes. You have 15 points in high cards and partner's redouble marks him with at least an average hand so that the opposition is in for a rough voyage. Strike now and let them try to extricate themselves.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.
FOR MONDAY, JULY 29, 1968
ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Don't be remiss in attending to small matters, even though "big" ones may arise unexpectedly. Don't let anyone stampede you into thinking that you cannot handle assignments or that you cannot make gains. You CAN!
TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Some admonitions for this day: Be alert to those who would mislead you, do not expect too much in the way of cooperation from others, and do not scatter your energies so that your efforts "go down the drain." Taking such precautions, you can make a good go of things.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Aim for a brisk, efficient start, even in minor matters, to free self for clearer thinking, useful discussions later in the day. A good period for launching new methods, ideas.
CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Put your schedule into proper order, then take it on—enthusiastically. Don't put forth a new idea without considering all the angles. Respect competition but tackle it with confidence.
LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Your vocational activities will be your best source of satisfaction now. Lead without seeming to, as the Leoite can do so well, but be mindful of the personal wishes of others concerned.
VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Searching for off-beat avenues toward achievement could lead you astray now. The grass on the other side of the fence is NOT always greener. Do the best you can in your own field and gains will be yours.
LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Out of the "important" things you planned, is there not really only a small percentage which are truly vital? Revise your list NOW if you should, and eliminate all non-essentials.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—You may count on this to be one of your memorable days. Look for some unexpectedly pleasant news and some heart-warming recognition for past efforts.
SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—A beneficent Jupiter beams on your better efforts now. Especially favored: Business and financial affairs, organizational interests, satisfactory conclusions to complex negotiations.
CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Daily and you will be left at the post; hurry excitedly and you may over-reach your target or lose precious gains along the way. Follow the sound "middle road."
AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—The start of a new week calls for some reviewing as to aims and procedures. Plan your schedule smartly, leaving out all non-essentials and, in your usual capable way, you can achieve top gains.
PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Your inner strength may be tested now. There are some complex situations to face but, with your innate optimism and your remarkable intuition, you should find a way to solve them.
YOU BORN TODAY are highly enthusiastic about doing "big" things—and do them well. In fact, once you have properly cultivated your talents and have learned self-discipline, there is practically no height to which you cannot attain. Your versatility is remarkable, and you could succeed in almost any field to your liking, whether it be professional, business or artistic. You must, however, curb tendencies toward impulsiveness and bossiness. Birthdate of: Booth Tarkington, novelist; Dag Hammarskjöld, Swed. statesman.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

TERRIBLE TORNADOES
Mid-America is getting a reputation for being the tornado alley of the United States. Chicago has the dubious distinction of being the highest risk area. Not because tornadoes, per se, are common in the Windy City, but because the area has the densest population of any other region in the danger belt.
Last year, there were 842 of these violent windstorms. Thousands were injured and 117 lives were lost. It is here that the medical profession enters the picture, because a state of emergency exists when twisters pass through a populated community.

Many people have no idea of the devastation that remains as the serpentine funnel skips and dips across the land at speeds of 25 to 40 miles per hour. The twister is 300 yards wide in its upper area and funnels down toward earth from heavy, dark clouds.

Winds blowing at speeds of 300 miles per hour destroy almost everything in their path within 30 seconds. This is the most awesome feature of a tornado. A family may be eating in the kitchen and within a half minute there is no trace of family or home. Cars, buses, and trucks have been tossed through the air like matchsticks. In contrast, there is little damage outside the 100- to 300-yard path of the roaring twister.

Tornadoes strike at any hour, but most take place between 4 and 6 p.m. Always seek safety when warnings are issued. Alarms are sounded only when a funnel cloud has been sighted or detected by radar. The old storm cellar provides the best protection. Basements are next best, and if possible, get under a work bench or table.

Extinguish fires and turn on the radio or TV for news. Open windows not facing the storm and avoid second stories, auditoriums, house trailers, and vehicles. Lie on the floor if there is no basement. When caught in open country, lie flat in a ditch or on low ground.
TOMORROW: Housefires.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

EATING LEFTOVERS

A. L. writes: I am ill and unable to cook big meals for my family every day. Once a week I prepare enough food to last a whole week. Are we losing vitamins by eating leftovers?

REPLY

This is not an ideal arrangement, and there is a possibility that you are being deprived of vitamins. Why not supplement these meals with a daily multiple vitamin-mineral preparation?

WHY SOME SPINES CURVE

A. C. writes: X-rays of my back revealed a crooked spine. What could have caused this deformity? Incidentally, I never had known I had this defect.

REPLY

Poor posture as a child, injury, and difference in length of the legs are the most common origins of spinal curvature.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT

AT CHAUTAUQUA

Symphony to Present Three Concerts

Chautauqua, New York--The last in a series of four programs featuring the works of Bach, Beethoven and Brahms will be offered by the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra on Tuesday, July 30 at 8:30 p.m. in the Amphitheater. Under the baton of the distinguished American conductor, Walter Hendl, the sixty-six man orchestra will play Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 in G; Beethoven's Fourth Symphony and Brahms Fourth Symphony. The music of George Gershwin will be featured on the Wednesday night pops concert of the Chautauqua Orchestra in the 7,500 seat open air Amphitheater. Robert Spillman will be piano soloist with the orchestra in a program which will include Gershwin's "American in Paris," "Rhapsody in Blue," and "Concerto in F."

This will be Robert Spillman's twelfth season at Chautauqua -- though for the past three years he has had to travel nearly 4,000 air miles to get here! He now lives in Berlin, Germany and tours Europe both as a concert pianist and as an accompanist for such artists as Rita Streich and Barry McDaniell. He studied at the Chautauqua School of Music with James Friskin and graduated with a Master's degree in Music from Eastman School of Music in 1959. He has received both a Fulbright scholarship and a grant from the Martha Baird Rockefeller Fund for Music. Mr. Spillman has both assisted many Chautauqua artists as piano accompanist and played with the orchestra here on many occasions. He is now a coach on the professional staff of the Chautauqua Opera Association.

Saturday evening's concert by the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra features Millard Taylor as soloist in the Concerto for Violin and orchestra by Khachaturian. The orchestra will also play "An American Triptych" by Gunther Schuller and the "Rustic Wedding Symphony" by Karl Goldmark.

Fire from the Sky

I'm not ashamed to admit that I don't like lightning. But I don't hide in a dark closet when it starts to crackle close by. Instead, I find myself counting the seconds that elapse between the time I see the flash and the time I hear the thunder. For every five seconds that I have counted between the lightning and the sound of thunder, I know that the lightning must have struck approximately a mile away. As long as it stays at least that far away, I enjoy watching Nature's big show. I knew that as long as I can hear the thunder, the lightning hasn't hit me. And that if it should hit me, I will never know what struck me. What bothers me are the near misses -- the times when it comes uncomfortably close. Few things in nature are more unpredictable than an electrical storm. Some of them sneak up on you without warning. A friend of mine was killed by a lightning bolt from a single cloud that didn't look much bigger than the back of a man's hand. Death by lightning is about as instantaneous as any death known. Some lightning flashes carry a billion volts, and last about one-thousandth of a second. There is no more dramatic way to leave this troubled earth than to be killed by lightning. But only a select few ever die in this manner.

Some people have no fear of lightning, but are afraid of the thunder that follows. I had a Canadian friend who reacted in this manner. The boom and rumble of the thunder threw him into a tizzy because it reminded him of the artillery duels when he was in the trenches during World War I. Most of the sound of thunder is caused by a sudden increase of pressure along the path of a lightning stroke. An unusually loud burst of thunder may unnerve you, but it is harmless.

If you fear lightning, you may be reacting to a fear that has been handed down from your cave-man ancestors who once hunted the mammoth. All primitive people greatly fear lightning. Among the taboos kept by the Navajo Indians today are several that concern lightning. It is taboo to eat the flesh of anything that has been struck by lightning. Even if the animal has been merely stunned by lightning and recovers, its flesh can never be eaten. A Navajo never touches the body of an animal if it has been killed by lightning. He won't even go near the spot where it has been killed.

Even the act of cutting a melon may bear the lightning taboo. Navajos are cautioned never to stab a knife, point first, into a melon. Such a knife thrust is the symbol of lightning stroke, and no one would dare eat a piece of the melon after it had been stabbed by a knife.

Not only is the flesh of an animal struck by lightning taboo for food, but the very wood used to cook meals becomes taboo for any household purposes if the tree from which it came has been struck by lightning. It is considered dangerous to handle, and cannot be used for firewood, fence posts, or for building the Navajo hogan. Only the medicine man will touch pieces of wood from lightning struck trees. He uses such wood in certain rites and for making ritualistic objects.

Like most places on earth, except the Arctic regions, we have our share of thunder storms in Warren County. But they are few in number compared to Tampa, Florida which experiences an average of 94 days with thunderstorms annually.

Whether you live in Tampa, Florida or Warren, Pennsylvania it is plain foolishness to believe the Old Wives Tale that "lightning never strikes the same place twice". It is equally foolish to take the attitude that there is nothing that you can do to protect yourself from lightning. A fatalistic attitude toward lightning makes about as much sense as sitting on your seat belt when riding in a car.

A long time ago the National Bureau of Standards developed a code for protection against lightning. This code is well worth heeding today. The following points should be adhered to during a thunderstorm:

1. Do not go outdoors or remain out during thunderstorms unless it is necessary. Stay inside of a building where it is dry, preferably away from fireplaces, stoves, and other metal objects.

2. If there is any choice of shelter, choose in the following order:

- a. Large metal or metal-framed building.
- b. Dwellings or other buildings which are protected against lightning.

- c. Large unprotected buildings.
- d. Small unprotected buildings.

3. If remaining out of doors is unavoidable, keep away from:

- a. Small sheds and shelters if in an exposed location.
- b. Isolated trees.
- c. Wire fences.
- d. Hilltops and wide open spaces.

4. Seek shelter in a cave, a depression in the ground, a deep valley or canyon, the foot of a steep or over-hanging cliff, in dense woods, or a grove of trees.

MONEY BANKED, NOT BURIED

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP)—Native Papuans and New Guineans are learning there are more ways of saving money than burying 10-cent coins.

Latest statistics show they operated 257,000 savings bank accounts with a credit balance of 11,095,000 Australian dollars ($12,426,000) at June 30, 1967. This compared with 50,000 accounts with a total balance of 2,134,000 Australian dollars ($2,390,000) 10 years earlier.

The native people's traditional method of saving since the white man came here has been to bury shillings, and more recently 10-cent coins (worth 11 U.S. cents) since the switch to decimal currency.
